POLITICAL ECONOMY IN EAST ASIA

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Before the launch of the World Trade Organization (WTO) as a vehicle for world economic regulation, East Asia has been predicted to become the most dynamic economic region in the 21st century. Thus, the study of the political economy of East Asia is very significant in understanding the strategic role of the East Asian region in the dynamics of the global political economy. For this reason, the content of this course is focused on disparity issues, development policies, and developing economic institutions in the East Asian region, particularly East Asia. Knowledge related to political economy theory is one of the tools to appreciate this subject.
